To whom it may concern:

We asked Mick Knutson to join our project as a senior system architect. His primary task was to assist us in the system design and development of the server components. He developed a very sound architecture and his code was top notch. His leadership and mentoring allowed us to move to a test driven development methodology.

I have worked with hundreds of developers over my 15 year plus career in information technology and Mick is by far one of the best. I give him my highest recommendation.
